Foreword

Welcome to Logistics UK's Transport Manager Conferences

David Wells OBE Chief Executive Logistics UK

Transport Manager is the logistics industry's most popular event and no wonder: Any business using HGVs or vans in its daily work needs to make sure its transport managers are up to speed with the latest rules and regulations governing their use – and there's no better way to get up to speed than by attending one of our Transport Manager conferences.

Supported once again by the office of the Traffic Commissioners and taking place across 10 different locations in the UK (from Yeovil to Falkirk, Cardiff to Belfast) as well as online, Transport Manager 2024 offers delegates the opportunity to hear in-depth presentations from a variety of hand-picked expert speakers.

This thought-provoking programme will provide you with the latest information and guidance on industry legislation to help you manage the safety and compliance of your transport operation.

Every year we strive to make sure all bases are covered providing you with the latest information and guidance on industry legislation to help manage the safety and compliance of your operation as well as providing excellent networking opportunities with your industry peers.

The fact Transport Manager is now entering its 24th year is testament to how well received it has been over the years and how the programme constantly evolves to serve our industry in the best way possible.

I hope you find your event both insightful and enjoyable and look forward to many more years developing this important event.

https://wattstvc.co.uk

Watts Truck & Van was formed after the first world war, when Arthur Watts travelled to Greece and bought 200 mostly chain-driven Albion vehicles, which were repaired and converted from military spec to be suitable for oil suppliers, dairies, breweries and general haulage vehicles. Others were used as bus chassis for the new service routes in South Wales. These pioneering steps began an association with Albion which effectively continues to the current day through the various Leyland alliances, to the Watts familyowned DAF Dealerships in Cardiff, Newport and Swansea, built on a foundation of valuing people, innovation and achievement. The company celebrated its centenary three years ago, and has recently been named DAF UK Dealer of the Year as well as Commercial Motor Dealer of the Year three times in the last four years.
